June 2, 1982

Mr. William J. Casey, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

The 64th Annual National Convention of The American Legion will be held in Chicago, Illinois August 20-26, 1982. I am pleased to extend this formal and most cordial invitation for you to address delegates to our Convention during the Tuesday, August 24 session at 10:30 a.m. at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The audience will be comprised of delegates, guests and ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary. As a strong supporter of the Central Intelligence Agency and its most worthwhile endeavors, The American Legion has consistently recognized the indispensable importance of our intelligence gathering capabilities in the CIA and has supported the changes in current restrictive laws and regulations which hamper this vital function.

Additional sessions of our Convention will be held on August 25 and 26. If either of these dates would be more compatible to your schedule the time and date of your appearance on our program could, of course, be arranged at your convenience.

Mr. Casey, I hope that your busy schedule will allow you to be with us and I look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,

JACK W. FLYNT
National Commander
